VVZ-OP4-02-T Four-part monkey trail

The quadruple monkey trail combines a spider rope net, balance ladder, balance bars and vertical rope net. The moving sections naturally develop balance, stability and coordination, while the rope nets support upper-body strength and overall agility. Combining four different physical activities creates a varied and more challenging route that engages the whole body. The steel structure with a durable surface finish, strong polyester ropes and stainless-steel fasteners ensures high durability and a long service life in outdoor environments.
